

November 2, 2013

In 1994, I came to work for my father-in-law at his successful school photography studio in New York City. Almost immediately, he became ill and passed away within 2 years. I took over all responsibilities right away. I was up to the challenge and continued the success for many years to come. It was not until approximately 2006 or 2007 that things began to change. The technology and economy both had drastic effects on my business. We started borrowing, charging and investing to remain relevant.

Before I knew it, my 40 plus year old company had amassed a debt of over $400,000! We were operating, but I never thought there would be a way this could get paid.

When I heard about Corporate Turnaround, and learned about the services that they provide, I started doing my research. I found they had a great track record and a very logical approach to managing debt. Handling the calls and letters from all my creditors was driving me crazy, and getting in the way of running my company.

[REDACTED], from Corporate Turnaround, explained to me that they will handle it all. All I had to do was refer my creditors to contact [REDACTED]. Little by little, they all did and stopped calling me. This was fantastic!

Eventually, through my payments and their negotiating skills, they saved us over $150,000 and got everything settled and paid. All that debt is gone! I never would have believed it was possible. Thanks to [REDACTED] and the entire Corporate Turnaround team. So many of them were involved with our success! Last year, we celebrated our 50th anniversary and are doing well!

Thanks again for helping [REDACTED] pull off a seemingly impossible feat!!!!!!

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
